This guide is written for your business. Cailub builds and publishes the website for you within the agreed scope; you never need to do technical development work yourself.

How it works

Step by step

1 Tell us what you need

Open Your website and complete the project questions: your services, pages, style and any sites you like.

What you should see: Your project moves to In design.

2 Send your branding and content

Upload your logo, colours, photos and any text you already have. Your checklist shows what's still needed. If you don't have something, say so: we'll suggest options.

3 Review the design

We send a preview link. Look at it on your phone and computer and leave comments on anything you'd change.

4 Revisions

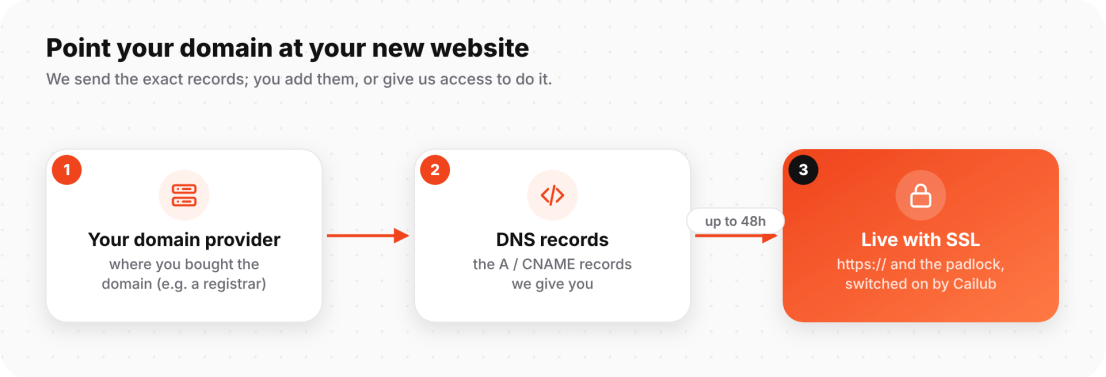

We make the agreed changes. The number of revision rounds is set out in your signed website scope document.

5 Approve

When you're happy, press Approve in the dashboard. Nothing goes live without your approval.

6 Domain and DNS

If you own a domain, we'll tell you exactly which DNS records to add with your domain provider, or you can give us access to do it. If you need a domain, we can help you buy one in your name.

7 Publishing and SSL

We publish the site and switch on SSL (the padlock), so it loads securely as https://.

What you should see: Your domain opens the new website with a padlock in the address bar.

8 Final testing and handover

We test forms, links and mobile layout, then hand over: how to request changes and what's included in website care.

If something isn't right

I can't find a file you asked for
Tell us in the project messages: we'll work with what you have.

The domain doesn't show the new site yet
DNS changes can take up to 48 hours to reach everyone.
